We will again be offering Easy Heat wood pellets this season. These have shown to be a good, solid quality brand and customers have reported positive feedback using Easy Heat— it's a great value.

Our preferred supplier of wood pellets over the last 20 years is Lignetics. We purchase them from their plants in Virginia and West Virginia. We have found their product quality to be good and consistently good throughout the winter months as well as during the summer and fall preseason production. So we are again offering Lignetics this season as our proven high quality wood pellet.

A premium option is the ultra premium softwood pellets by American Wood Fibers— anyone who uses these pellets almost never goes back to hardwood pellets because the white pine pellet has almost no ash and higher heat.
